The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approx. birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvment of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

In his will, he wrote: April 30, 1722. I, Arthur Alburdis, of Hempstead, in Queens County, yeoman, being very sick. All debts to be paid. The brown horse that I used to ride is to be sold, and so much of my stock of cattle as will pay all debts. I leave to my wife Mary, all my lands and movable estate, to be wholly at her disposal while she remains my widow, to do all things needful to bring up my children. But when she marries to another man then she shall have one third. After her death, I leave all my lands and estate to my seven children, Henry, Elizabeth, John, Mary, Martha, Hannah, and William. I make my wife, and John Dusenberry, Sr., and Mordecai Lester, executors. Witnesses, John Mott, Jr., John Dusenberry, Sr., Symon Laamert. Proved at special meeting of Court of Common Pleas, May 15, 1722. (John Dussenberry was a known Quaker.) On October 2, 1727, the executors were confirmed. The widow, Mary Alburdis, was then the wife of Thomas Langdon.

Alburtis, Pieter Caesar (Casar Alberto, alias Pieter de Italien)
 Pieter Caeser Alburtis m. 24 Aug 1642 son of NYC Ref Ch (banns)

b. 1617 Malamocco, near Venice, Italy
 d. before 9 Nov 1655

In the record of their banns, they were: Peter Petro Alberto, j.m. Van Venetien, en Judith Jans, j.d. Van Amsterdam.

Pietro Caesare Alberti was an Italian from Malamocco, near Venice. He was the first Italian to settle in New Amsterdam.³

He arrived in America June 2, 1635 aboard the ship "de Coninck". According to Captain David Peterson de Vries's sailing log, Pietro Alberti was a merchant seaman who joined the ship before July 10, 1634 at Texel, Holland. The ship arrived at New Amsterdam, America, June 2, 1635 where Pietro jumped ship. The log entries indicate Captain de Vries and Pietro did not get along, (maybe the reason he jumped ship). Pietro left Venice about 1632 and went to Holland. While in Holland Pietro renounced the Catholic faith and joined the Dutch Reformed Evangelical Church.¹

Pieter Caesar Alburtis lived at New Amsterdam, and later obtained, on 17 June 1643, a patent for a plantation at the Wallabout. In 1651 he sold a portion to Samuel Menjer; and the remainder was sold, after his death, to Jan Damen. He made his mark to documents in 1670.

Whereas Pieter Cecer, alias Mallemock, and his wife have lately died, leaving six small children",tutors and guardians appointed....."herewith appoint Pieter van Linde as being the stepfather of the mother".....Dated 9 November 1655.²

His sons, Jan and Willem Alburtis, in 1695 appointed Peter Cooke their attorney to sell their Wallabout farm of 100 acres.

Some of his descendants use "Burtis" as a surname.

Alexander, James

James Alexander
son of David Alexander &

m. 5 January 1721¹

Mary Sprat

(widow of Samuel Provost)
dau. of John Spratt & Maria De Peyster
b. 23 April 1693¹ (17 April 1694)
d. 18 April 1760

b. 27 May 1691 Scotland

d. 7 April 1756¹

He came to America in 1715. Tradition has it that he was compelled to leave Scotland for political reasons, his services being enlisted in behalf of the Pretender. It is proof of his ability that the year after his arrival he obtained an appointment in the office of the Secretary of the Province of New-York, was appointed Surveyor-General of West Jersey, an office which he held for the remainder of his life, and was also appointed Receiver-General and Collector of Quit Rents for the Province of New Jersey. In 1718, under the first charter of Perth Amboy, he was appointed Recorder of that city. On coming to America he devoted himself to the study of the law, and soon became one of the foremost lawyers in New-York and New Jersey, though by profession he was a civil engineer. In 1721, under Governor Burnet, with whom he was very intimate, he was commissioned a member of the King's Council for the Province of New-York, holding office until 1737, and again from 1750 until 1756. In 1721 he was also made Attorney-General for New-York. In June, 1723, he was appointed naval officer for the port of New-York, and reappointed in 1728. In 1737 he was elected to the New-York Assembly for one term. He was commissioned a member of the King's Council for New Jersey, July 19, 1722, and held the office until his death. In 1728 he was one of the representatives of New Jersey to try pirates. He was a large landholder with extended interests, and a member of the Boards of Proprietors of both East and West New Jersey. For recreation he pursued his favorite science of astronomy, and maintained a long correspondence with Halley, the eminent astronomer. He founded, with Benjamin Franklin and others, the American Philosophical Society. Writing of him in 1743, Lewis Morris says: "James Alexander lives in New-York, and has a very considerable estate in several parts of New Jersey. He is a merchant at New-York, and is supposed to be worth not less than £100,000. He is much troubled with the Gout, and doth attend the Assembly when the sessions are at Amboy, and has there been lay'd up with the Gout the greater part of the session of 1745."

In 1719 he was appointed a Commissioner for New Jersey to survey the boundary line between that province and New-York. Alexander was also one of the commissioners to survey the lands in dispute on the line between New-York and Connecticut, known as lands in the Oblong. Probably the most important matter with which James Alexander was connected was the celebrated trial of John Peter Zenger for libel.

James Alexander's will was dated 13 Mar 1745, recorded in Essex Co. 3 May 1756 along with codicils dated 17 Feb 1748 and 29 Sep 1749. In his will, he describes himself as "of New York City." The lengthy will mentions real and personal estate in large amounts. He mentioned his wife, Mary; son in law John Provost; sons James, deceased, and William; daus. Anne, Elizabeth, Katherine, Susannah, Mary. Executrix named is wife, Mary Alexander. Wits. were Arch'd Kennedy, Mary Kennedy, Evert Bancker. The 1748 codicil notes that dau. Anne had died since will of 1745.

Mary Alexander's will was dated 27 July 1756, had two codicils dated 27 Feb 1758 and 19 Feb 1760; the will and codicils were recorded in Middlesex Co. 16 May 1760. On 3 Nov 1762 William Alexander, Esq., Lord of Stirling, qualified as executor. In her will, Mary, widow of James Alexander, Esq., mentions eldest son, John Provost, merchant of New York City; late son David; son William Alexander; eldest dau. Mary Livingston (wife of Peter Van Brugh Livingston, merchant); dau Elizabeth (wife of John Stevens of New Jersey, merchant); dau. Catherine Parker, and her two ch. Clarinda and Bristoll; youngest dau. Susannah.

Joseph Warner Allen, surveyor of the route of the Paterson & Ramapo Railroad through Allendale, stayed with the family of John G. Ackerman on Franklin Turnpike in Allendale about 1846, while surveying in this area. When the station was established, the stop was named "Allendale" in his honor.

He was a civil engineer. He began as a rodman during the construction of the old Delaware Division Canal and was engaged on the construction of the Camden and Amboy Railway at Bordentown. He was employed on the building of the Grand Gulf and Port Gibson Railroad in Mississippi and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Virginia. After working for the Paterson and Ramapo Railroad, he was chief engineer of the Hoboken Land and Improvement Co., the Dundee Water Power and Land Co., and various railroad enterprises.

He was deputy quartermaster-general of New Jersey, and organized and equipped the first eight regiments of three years' volunteers for the Civil War. He was a colonel of the 9th New Jersey volunteers, and joined the Burnside expedition in North Carolina. He drowned off Cape Hatteras 15 Jan 1862 while on the Burnside Expedition. He was held in such high esteem by his fellow officers and men, that the survivors, two years later, in 1864, erected over his grave in Bordentown, a 15'6" marble memorial. It is inscribed as follows: "Joseph W. Allen, Colonel, Ninth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, drowned at Hatteras, North Carolina, January fifteenth, 1862, in the fifty-first year of his age." "This monument is erected by the officers and men of the Ninth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, as a tribute of grateful respect to the memory of their first commander, who, while faithfully serving his country in the darkest hour of her peril, even to the sacrifice of his life, endeared himself to the hearts of his whole command."

Also buried in the cemetery at Bordentown is James Warner Allen, b. 1 June 1825, d. 30 Nov 1901, who might have been Joseph Warner Allen's brother.

Jan Amerman & wife Sarah Wyckoff, witnessed the baptism 5 Feb 1749 Flatlands Ref Ch, of Aaltje, dau. of Jan Amerman, Jr.

In his will, he wrote: In the name of God, Amen, April 1, 1747. I, Jan Amerman, of the Flatlands, in Kings County, being at present very well. I leave to my wife Sara all my estate, houses, lands, tenements, meadows, and improvements, either in Flatlands or elsewhere, during her natural life, provided she continues my widow and bears my name, but no longer. I leave to my eldest son Dirck æ5 "for his first birth right," before any division. I leave to my sons Jan and Petrus each æ50, "provided they be not married at the time when I come to die," and it is to be paid to them as an outsett; but if they are married at the time of my decease, this is to be null and void. I leave to my son Jan a negro boy, and to my son Petrus a negro girl. All the rest of my estate I leave to all my children, Dirck, Nicholas, Jan, Petrus, Sara, wife of Peter Wyckoff, Jr. I make my wife and my sons executors. Witnesses, Christopher Codwise, hatter, Denys Hegeman, Adrian Hegeman. Proved, August 9, 1758.

d. 16 June 1758 on ship, off Cape Carethes, near west end of Cuba

At the time of his death he was captain of the King William III, a 20-24 gun ship with a crew of 180-200 men, an American privateer, home ported in New York City.

The will of "John Amory, of New York, mariner" was dated 20 August 1757 and probated 30 December 1762. In it, he left: to my wife Mary £500 and 1/2 of all my right and interest in the good ship, or vessell, called the "King William the Third," in which I am now going on a Privateering cruise against his Majesty's Enemies. I also leave to her 1/2 of all the profits that may come to me from said cruise. I also leave to my wife 1/2 of the rent and profit of the dwelling house in New York where I live until my son John is 21, for the bringing up and educating and supporting my said son. Also the use of furniture and £1,000. I leave to my son John £500 when of 25 years of age, or sooner if his mother thinks best to be put at interest on good bond security. I leave to my son John all that tract of 2,000 acres of land which I purchased of Lawrence Van Kleeck and his wife Jacopie, as by deed dated August 29, 1752, and after the death or marriage of my wife the dwelling house and lot where I now live, situate near the Vly Market, in New York, but the rent of 1/2 of the house shall be paid to Hester Rynders, the daughter of my wife by her former husband, so long as she remains widowed. If my son dies, then I leave the house and lot and 1/2 of the ship to the said Hester Rynders. I make her, and my wife, and my brother-in-law, John Cuyler, and my friend, James Van Cortlandt, executors. When the will was probated, Hester Rynders was then the wife of Stephen De Lancey. Pelletreau adds a note: Mary, wife of Captain John Amory, was the widow of Barent Rynders, Jr.³

Mary Amory, of New York, widow of John Amory, in her her will dated 20 October 1758 (Proved 28 Nov. 1758) mentions daughter Hester, son John... "all rest to be sold...and proceeds to my son and daughter when of age." Appoints her

She was b. 17 Feb 1750 Albany NY.¹ It is probably this John Amory who received a 200-acre land grant in Nova Scotia, but who probably died before he could claim it. The claim was escheated in 1813, suggesting that he either never settled on the land or left shortly thereafter as his name does not appear in the early Chester Township records. His death notice from the New York Gazette-Mercury, dated 21 August 1780, reads: "Amory, John, native of New York City, who resided some years in Albany before the rebellion died Aug. 11 [1780] in New York City in his 30th year."²

In her will, she wrote: In the name of God, Amen. I, ANN ANTILL, at present of the city of New York, in North America, being of sound mind but old and infirm, etc. I leave to my son Edward my lands in the County of Bergen, in the Province of New Jersey, left to me by the last Will of John Corbett, Esq. I desire that my money in the hands of Charles Lowndes, Esq., given to me by the Will of my deceased sister, Euphemia Norris, be divided into five equal parts and disposed of as follows, viz.: to my grandson, John Collins ANTILL, son of John ANTILL, Esq.; to my granddaughter, Isabella Graham ANTILL, daughter of my son, Edward ANTILL, Esq.; to my granddaughter, Ann Cochran, daughter of Richard Cochran, Esq.; to my granddaughter, Sarah Morris, daughter of Lieut. Colonel John Morris; and to my granddaughter, Elizabeth Colden ANTILL, daughter of my son, Lewis ANTILL, deceased. As to the money given to me by my late beloved husband, Edward ANTILL, Esq., and any other money I may die possessed of, I desire it may be equally divided among my children. I make my son, John ANTILL, Esquire, my sole executor. Dated March 27, 1778. Witnesses, Thomas Davies, Ann Morris, Thos. Skinner, baker. Proved, November 20, 1781. NOTE.--On December 3, 1781, John ANTILL, Esq., appeared before the Surrogate for the City and Province of New York, and was duly sworn to the true execution and performance of said Will.

In Russell Gasero's "Historical Directory of the Reformed Church in America, 1628-1992" [1992] on page 5 we learn that Vincentius Antonides was born in Buxom, Friesland, the Netherlands in 1670. He was ordained at Leeuwarden in 1693. He was the Pastor at Bergum in Friesland, from 1693 until 1705, when he came to New York to minister to the people of Bushwick, Flatbush, Flatlands, Brooklyn, New Utrecht, Gravesend, and Jamaica. His pastorate lasted from 1705 to 1744.

In his will, he wrote: ...November 6, 1743. I, Vincentius Antonides, minister of the Gospel at Flatbush, being in good health. I leave to my eldest son Johanes, for his birth right, a negro boy, "John," aged ten years, and all the books in which I have written this in Dutch, "Dit book behoort tot myn zoon Johanes Antonides." Also all my writing library, both Latin and Dutch, and all the rest to my heirs, my son Johanes, my daughter Johana, wife of Cornelius Rapalye, and my grand-daughter Margareta, wife of Jacobus Vanderspiegel. I make my son Johanes, and my friends Jacobus Goelet and Peter Strycher, executors. Witnesses, James Remsen, Engelbert Lott, Jan Ditmarts. Proved, September 7, 1744.

Appel, Adriaen (Adriaen Jansen Appel)
Adriaan Appel

m. (1)
m. (2) 28 June 1685
Albany Ref Ch

Maria Reyverding
Folkje Pieterse
(widow of Pieter Meese Vroman)

Adriaen (or Ariaen) Appel was of Dutch descent and was an early settler in New Amsterdam.

A court document is found in Mortgages 1658-1660 of the Early Records of Albany series -- where Goosen Gerritsen [Van Schaick], Adiraen Jansen Appel and Philip Hendricksen appear as sureties for the fine of Steven Jansen (Conninck) at Fort Orange and Beverwyck in 1659. There is no further detail as to what this fine is for.¹

Adriaen Appel (along with Magdalena Casjou) wit. bp. 21 June 1665 Ref Ch NYC of Magdalena, dau. of Simon Druine and Magdalena Vanderstraten.

In 1671, Adriaen Appel had recently been a resident of New York, but had removed to Albany. In 1674 he was an innkeeper.

An Adriaen Appel was a resident of New York in 1701 and left a will devising his estate to his children.

Apple, Adriaen
Adriaen Apple

m.

In his will, he wrote: ...1701, the 1st of January. I, Adriaen Apple, being at this time in my full senses, make my perfect will and testament. "To my children, to wit, Johanes, William, and Catharine Apple." "The said Johanes Apple shall restore the Patent and Power of attorney to his brother William and his sister Catharine. And also the money of the lot which he has sold, and all what is in his custody." And the said William and Catharine shall be first paid for maintaining their father. I do fully empower the said William and Catharine to dispose of the estate left by me, and of what shall remain, the said Johanes shall draw 6 shillings and the rest to be divided. Witnesses, Paulus Turck, Johans Van Geldert, Thomas Latham. Translated from the Dutch by Abraham Gouverneur. Proved, September 10, 1712. Letters of administration granted to son William.

Jan Aertsen van Putten and his two sisters, whose mother, Susannah, had recently married the first proprietor of Hoorn's Hook (Sybout Claeszen), were children of Aert Teunissen van Putten, who, in 1643, was massacred (but not his family, as some say) by Indians at Pavonia.

He was a member of the party who in 1659 attacked the Indians at Esopus; they remembered, and retaliated by attacking and killing him in his home 7 June 1663. Only a few days before this his wife Grietie Hendricks and little daughter Annetie had reached their home from a visit to Wie, by Swolle, in Holland, Grietie's birthplace.

Jan Aertsen was a blacksmith, and settled at Esopus (Kingston). He joined the church at Esopus on 15 April 1661, and soon after was made an elder.

Richard Ashfield was a merchant of New York. He inherited a propriety in East Jersey.¹

He came to America soon after the Duke of York had confirmed the sale of East Jersey to the proprietors. He was a nephew of Thomas Hart of Enfield, Middlesex (England), merchant, one of the 24 East Jersey proprietors. Thomas Hart dying in 1700, his right in East Jersey descended to his sister and heir, Patience Ashfield, from whom it descended to her grandson and heir, Richard Ashfield. He had, therefore, one whole propriety in East Jersey (NY Gen. & Biog. Record, vol. 6, p. 21; NJ Archives, x, p. 131). Probably he moved to East Jersey and died there, for 5 April 1714, Richard Ashfield, about 18 years old petitioned for the appointment of Capt. Isaac de Riemer of New York as his guardian (NJ Archives, xxiii, 17).¹

He was in the milling business in Texas in his youth and afterwards was one of the largest manufacturers of cotton bags in the country.

He was instrumental in securing the incorporation of Mount Vernon, NY, and one of his proudest possessions was a silver loving cup presented to him by the inhabitants of Mt. Vernon.

He was for a number of years superintendent of Jennings' hardware works at Port Jervis (1890).

About 1884 he bought the dwelling house of Robert B. Cable on East Allendale Avenue, Allendale, NJ.

William B. Asten was listed in the 1885 New Jersey State Census, in Hohokus Township (living on or near East Allendale Avenue, Allendale). Living with them were Frances Asten and Archer H. Asten (and two unfamiliar, difficult-to-decipher names that may have been servants).

William B. Asten, 81, married, and Frances A. Auboyneau, John

John Auboyneau

According to the 1633 version of De Laet's Nieuu Wereldt, the Machkentiwomi, neighbors of the Tappaans, lived "over against" the Manhattans on the west side of the Hudson River. Their name derives from machkachtæuunge, meaning red bank of a river. Where was Machkachtæuunge? According to the deed of Daniel Honan and Michael Hawdon, dated June 5, 1696, a tract of vacant land in Orange (now Rockland) County, New York, was commonly called Kackyacktaeueke.

Presenting another version of this place-name, the Return of a Survey for 7,470 acres, dated April 25, 1710, issued to Elias Boudinot, John Auboyneau, John Barberrie and Peter Fauconnier mentions "an Indian field called Maygahgtayako" situated on the southwest side of Pascack Brook in present-day Spring Valley, New York. This Indian plantation, variously known as Kackyacktaweke, Hackyackawack or Maygahgtayako, is the origin of the historic toponym Kakiat. These place-names appear to be approximations of Machkachtawunge, thus placing this band near the head of the Pascack Creek and perhaps southward. Furthermore, in 1657, Augustine Herrman purchased a tract of land lying west of the mouth of the Raritan River running to a creek (?) at the uppermost end of the Great Marsh called Mankachkewachky, which runs northwest up into the country. Mankachkewachky appears to be another approximation of Machkachtawunge. Therefore, the Mechkentowoon resided upon intertidal lands bordering Newark Bay and its tributaries, the Hackensack and Passaic Rivers.

A ship sailed from La Rochelle for Quebec on 8 April 1656. It was owned by one Auboyneau. Either he was in Nantes or the ship was built in France. The ship was 3-masted and was 100 tons. The name of this vessel was either "Fortune" or "La Fortune." This ship had sailed at least 2 times prior, both times it sailed the same route, once in 1654, and again in 1655.
