

-- BRINKERHOFF --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolution of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

Brinkerhoff

The progenitor of the Brinkerhoff family in Bergen County was Joris Dirksen Brinckerhoff, who came to New Netherlands in 1638. An early variant spelling of the name was Blinkerhof.

Genealogical material on the Brinkerhoff family includes:

Brinkerhoff, Richard, The Family of Joris Dirksen Brinckerhoff, 1638, New York, 1887
Riker, James, Annals of Newtown, 1852, "The Brinckerhoff Family," pp. 290-299

BRINKERHOFF - JORIS DIRCKSEN BRINKERHOFF, the founder of the family, came from Drenthe, Holland, about 1638. He settled in Staten Island, but was driven out by the Indians, and went to Long Island; his oldest son was killed by the red men; his second son, Hendrick, bought land in Bergen in 1667, and his descendants still live there. Hendrick's son, Cornelius, married Aegie Vreeland; the next generation brought Hartman; Hartman's son, Hendrick, married Lea Van Wagenen and their son, Hartman, married Eleanor Clendenny; Hartman's son, John, married Hannah Tise, and from this union came Ex-Senator William Brinkerhoff and Henry, father of Brigadier-General Henry Brinkerhoff, a former Vice-President of The Holland Society.

among the patentees from the Lords Proprietors, was Hendrick George, a son of Joris or George BRINKERHOFF, the ancestor of the entire American family of that name. He came from the county of Drent, or Drenthe, in the United Provinces, having lived for some time at Flushing, a seaport in Zealand, and with his wife Susannah (whose maiden name was Dubbels) emigrated to this country in 1638. He was granted land in Brooklyn, New York, in 1646. At the time of his death he was an elder in the church. His son, Hendrick George, mentioned above, was a schepen of Flatbush, New York, and represented his town, (Hempstead, Long Island), in the first Assembly of the province of New York under English rule. He removed to Bergen county, New Jersey, and in 1683 was appointed one of the tax commissioners of that county. He took up his final residence on the east bank of the Hackensack river, and his and his wife's names head the list of members of the Hackensack Dutch Church compiled in 1686. The word Blinkert means a sand hill, and is applied to the numerous downs along the Holland coast. Near Haarlem is a conspicuous hill of this sort called de Blinkert, and famous for a great victory won by the Hollanders in 1304. The termination of the name hof means a court or garden, hence the word Blinkerhoff signifies a garden on a sandhill.

In his will, he wrote: „I, Jacob Brinkerhoff, of Fishkill, in Duchess County, being sick. After paying debts and funeral charges, my wife is to have the sole use of all estate so long as she remains my widow, or until my children are of age, and then each shall have their part. But my wife is to have the use of each remaining part till my youngest child is of age, and then my wife is to have £200, and the rest to my children, Anna Catharine and Dirck. But my son shall have £50 over and above his part for his birth right. If both my children should die, then I leave all my estate to my brothers and sisters, and my wife's brothers and sisters. I make my brothers, Colonel John Brinkerhoff, Isaac Brinkerhoff and John Brinkerhoff, and Isaac Lent, executors. Dated May 1, 1758. Witnesses, Cornelius Osborn, Matthias Horton, Thomas Porter. Joris Brinckerhoff died September 3, 1768, at a very advanced age. The New York Gazette mentions him as a "Gentleman well esteemed and of a pious Character." His dwelling house and lot are now No. 73 Pearl street, and is the east part of the lot where the Old Stadt House, or City Hall, stood in ancient days.¹

In his will, he wrote: In the name of God, Amen. I, Joris Brinckerhoff, of New York, "considering the uncertainty of life, and am willing now, while I enjoy my usual share of health, to dispose of my temporal estate." I leave to my wife ,1,200 and all household furniture, but if she dies before me, then to my children. "All my real estate in New York, being the house and lot I now live on, with all the buildings thereon, and the house and lot in the rear of the same, and all buildings on the same ground, I order to be sold at Publick Vendue, within 12 weeks, and to be the property of the highest bidder among my children; But if they do not bid, then to any other person, and the proceeds to be paid to my three children." I leave to my sons, Dirck and Abraham, all my estate in the Patent of Waywayanda, in Orange County. All the rest of my personal estate I leave to my three children, and all my plate to my wife and children. If they cannot agree on a division, it is to be sold. I make my sons, Dirck and Abraham, executors. Dated June 1, 1765. Witnesses, John Oothout, Evert Byvanck, Jr., Edmund Seaman.

Codicil.--"I, Joris Brinckerhoff, upon further consideration of said will, considering sundry alterations necessary." The household goods left to my wife shall include all beds and their furniture. My executors are to sell my real estate when they think to the best advantage. "My vault in the yard of the New Dutch Church of this city I devise to my children, Dirck, Abraham, and Lucretia." What any of my children owe to me is to be a part of my estate. I make my brother-in-law, Abraham Van Duersen, and my nephew, Dirck Brinckerhoff, to be also executors. [Name of wife is not given.] August 9, 1768. Witnesses, John Oothout, Evert Bancker, Jr., Abraham Van Wyck. Proved, September 7, 1768.¹

Richard Brinkerhoff gives Joris's wife as Baeltie Demarest, dau. of David Demarest, but this is an error; it was Joris's son Roelof who married a Beletie Demarest; Joris m. Martyntje Bogert.

Joris lived on a farm near Schraalenburgh, near present Demarest, Bergen Co., NJ. In 1770 he went to York County (now Adams), PA to the Conewago colony, and settled about 4 miles northeast of the present Gettysburg, PA.

His will was dated 23 Aug 1807 and in it he describes himself as "George Brinkerhoff, Sr., of Strabone Township, County of Adams, and State of Pennsylvania."
