

-- CAMPBELL --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolution of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

Abraham Campbell was a blacksmith. He served in the War of 1812 as a Sergeant. He is said to have made the first iron mouldboard plow. In 1812 he and Peter Wortendyke, his neighbor to the south, conveyed one acre of land on the east side of the Pascack Road, out of both farms, for the site of the Pascack Reformed Church, which was built the following year. The first local schoolhouse was built at the northwest corner of the church plot, across the road from the Campbell home.

This family continued the wampum-making business established by Abraham's father, John W. Campbell.

Jacobus/James, Abraham's son, invented a machine to make the wampum, which previously had been handmade.

He first taught, at Pascack and Hackensack, then graduated in 1863 from State Normal School in Trenton. In what is now Park Ridge, Bergen County, NJ, he opened in the early 1860s, a summer school in the lower part of the family's wampum manufacturing mill. Here he instructed a group of 18 children of the neighborhood in reading, writing and arithmetic.¹

He taught until 1865, when he became a law student. He opened a law office in Hackensack in 1869 and was appointed County Prosecutor of the Pleas.

In his will, he wrote: I, Archibald Campbell, of New York, merchant, being sick. I leave to my wife Mary, the use of all my estate during her life, for her support and maintainance, and of my daughter Mary Campbell. I leave to my daughter Mary, £400, when she is of age or married. And in case of her death, then to my two cousins, John and Jennett Campbell, children of my uncle, Captain Dugall Campbell, each £100 when of age. And I, being now seized of a tract of land lying in Orange or Ulster County, called the Great Minisink Patent, my executors are to sell 1/2 of the same if necessary. I make my wife and my two friends, John Le Montes and William Jamison, executors. Christian (signed Christopher) Campbell and Samuel Campbell, both of Hackensack in the County of Bergen... [bound to]... William Franklin, Governor... 500 pounds... 23 Aug 1766. ... Samuel Campbell obtained license of marriage for Christian Campbell... and for Dirreckje Ver Veele of Orange County and Province of New York... [w] Daniel Vorhes and Jno Zabriski Jr.

Christian Campbell was a blacksmith. He lived first in Bergen Township, but returned to Harrington Township, Bergen Co., NJ before the Revolution. In 1790 he bought a farm in what is now River Vale, NJ, where he lived until his death.

Christian Campbell built, sometime before the Revolution, the house at what became 130 Tappan Rd., Norwood. He was a blacksmith, and in the fall of 1778, according to his testimony in a claim for his losses (totaling 18 pounds, 3 shillings, and 6 pence) filed at the end of the Revolutionary War, raiding parties from the British Army came up Tappan Road and took, among other things, a set of tools for shoeing horses, blacksmith hammers, and 150 pounds of bar iron.¹

In 1779, according to the Harrington Township tax list, Christian Campbell was taxed for his land plus 2 cows and 5 hogs. In 1785 he was charged additional taxes for a tavern which he operated then.¹

On 10 Jan 1789 Christian Campbell and his wife, Dirkje, sold the house and land to Capt. Thomas Blanch for the sum of 112 pounds and 10 shillings. In 1924 the home became an inn, and Chris and Jean Stegeman, owners, restored it in 1967 and ran Stegeman's Cock & Bull in the old homestead.¹

Abraham A. Haring of Ramapo, in his will dated 3 Jan 1842, mentioned dau. Sally, wife of David A. Campbell.

They were listed in the 1850 Federal Census, living in Washington Township, Bergen County, NJ, where he was a carpenter.

David A. Campbell also worked as a mechanic for his brother James, who had invented a machine to make wampum in the family's Park Ridge wampum-manufacturing business. This wampum mill was built about 1860, and replaced the business formerly conducted in a rented building, and which had even earlier begun in the Campbell homes by David's grandfather, John W. Campbell. The two brothers worked upstairs at their two story factory on, and water-powered by, the Pascack creek in Park Ridge. Here they worked out improvements in farm machinery, household gadgets, and new machinery for the wampum industry. Downstairs in this factory were the general working rooms.²

Jacob Campbell and John Campbell, both of Hackensack in the County of Bergen... [bound to]... William Franklin, Governor... 500 pounds... 23 April 1774. ...Jacob Campbell... obtained license of marriage for himself and for Allche Westervelt of the same place... [w] [the part of the page with the witness's signature is missing, looks to have been cut out!].

Jacob Campbell was a mason, and lived in what is today called the Campbell Christie House, in what became New Milford, Bergen County, NJ. The house was moved to the New Bridge Landing Historic Site in River Edge in the late 1970s.

He was a Private with the Bergen militia during the Revolution. In February 1780 his name appeared on a list of tax rateables, as a merchant, keeping store in his household at the southeast corner of the intersection of what is now River Road and Henley Avenue. About 1785 Jacob replaced his father as crossroads tavernkeeper. When his father, William, died in 1793/94, his will provided that his estate be sold and the proceeds equally divided among his six sons and three daughters. Accordingly, Jacob sold his six-acre tavern lot the spring of 1794 to Abraham Brower. It was then occupied by Abraham's brother, John Brower, Jr., a blacksmith, who conducted his blacksmith business there until his death a year later. On 11 March 1795 Abraham Brower sold the premises (blacksmith shop excepted) to John Christie, a blacksmith, by November 1796, John Christie was running a tavern here.¹

On 2 May 1794, Jacob and Alltie Campbell, mariner, of Hackensack Precinct, conveyed to Doctor Beekman Van Beuren, yeoman, of the same place, for £125, 10 acres...line of Jacob Quackenbush and Abraham Brown. Signed Jacob Campbell, Alltie Campbell (her mark). Witnessed by Jacob Terhune, David Terhune.²

On 6 May 1794, Jacob and Alleda Campbell, of Hackensack Precinct, conveyed to Doctor Beekman Van Beuren, yeoman, of the same place, for £130, 2 acres bounded by Joost Demarest. Signed Jacob Campbell. Witnessed by Archibald Wade.²

On 29 July 1803 (recorded 2 Feb 1804, Bergen Co. R:350) Jacob Campbell of New York City, mason, and Alladay, his wife, conveyed to Nicause Kipp of the Township of Hackensack, for $325, 1 acre more or less, being a house and lot at Kinderkamack, beginning corner of lot of Jacob Voorhis. Mentioned is Hackensack River. Signed by Jacob Camp. Witnessed by Walter D. Nicoll, Eliza Nicoll.⁴

They lived on part of his father's farm at Old Bridge (now New Milford), Bergen Co., NJ and later moved to Montvale.

They settled at Pascack before 1775¹ and lived in the old Campbell Homestead (demolished abt. 1887) at Pascack.

John W. Campbell started the wampum manufacturing business that his descendants continued for over a century. He supplied wampum to the United States government Indian agents and to the traders of the day.

The Campbells were farmers and worked at the wampum mostly in the winter months. They purchased conch shells in New York City, some of which had been brought to America a ballast in sailing vessels; they later purchased shells from the fish markets in the city. Originally the wampum was made in their homes, but eventually they rented and fitted out an old woolen mill that stood on the site of the (in mid 1950s) electric light plant in Park Ridge.¹

Robert Campbell probably fathered, about 1754, the illegitimate child of Charity Sneden, dau. of Robert Sneden & Mary (Mollie) Dobbs. Two documents offered for sale on eBay July 2008 --

(A) Oct 26, 1754 Orange county Document Regarding an Illegitimate Child Robert Campell Charity Sneding (Sneden), Signed by Cornelius Cuiper. The document is regarding testimony by Edward Briggs at his home in Tappan, about the child born of Charity Sneding and a judgement by Abraham Haring as to costs. Difficult to read but appears that Campell is responsible for the care of the child and mother. Signed on bottom by Edward Briggs and Cornelius Cuiper. The document reads: Oringe County October 26th 1754 then appeared before me Cornelius Cuyper Esq. and of his majority [and others] of the [said?] forths County of Oringe and Edward Briggs Being of full age and sworn on the holy Evanglist of the Almighty God and the [Agonsnt?] faith that he [asay?] at ths Cort house at tapan at the Court of Common Pleas and Robert Campal Do joint the Deponent to go about with him to be an ausdones to a certain instrument Drawn which the Deponent saith that was Ginon for the maintenance of the Child of Charity Sneding at the Cost of his nolage and Abraham Haring and Judges made answer that such thing was sold on for or that Effect and the Deponent for the faith that Robert Campoll said that it was the Best way to make as Littol Cost as he Could with out Dout the Child would Corns in that time for then the Deponent faith not. Sworn before me Edward briggs, Cornelius Cuiper Esqr.

(B) 1754 Orange County NY Document LaForg Cuiper Sneding Campell Testimony on who Charity Sneding's child Was. A testimony document in which Nathaniel LaForg says he over heard Robert Campell say he believes the child of Charity Sneding was his. The document reads: Oringe County, October 26th 1754. The appeared before me Cornelius Cuyper, Esqr. one of his majesty Justices of the peace for the County of Oringe, Nathaniel Lafurge Being of full age and sworn on the holy Evangelist of the Almighty God and the Deponent faith that he heard Robert Campell say that the Child of Charrete Sneding about two or three Days after it was born that the Deponent faith he heard Robert Campble say that he Rail lo [Really?] thought the Child of Charrete Sneding was his and he would maintain the said Child of a Lady [illegible] Cornelius Cuiper Esqr.

Samuel Campbell was a mason and lived at Old Bridge (now New Milford), Bergen Co., NJ most of his married life.

It is likely this "Samuel Cammel" who is listed on the 1778 Franklin Township Rateables with 68 acres, 1 horse, 4 horned cattle. In the Jan-Feb 1779 Franklin Township Rateables, his name is spelled "Cambel" and he is listed as a householder.

He returned to Old Bridge after the war, and was taxed in 1784 and 1785 for 42 acres and a grist mill.

William Campbell, probably of Irish descent, emigrated to America in 1716.

In the Tappan Reformed Church record of their betrothal, they were: William Kemmel j.m. born in England and Aeltje Minnelae j.d. born at Haverstraw.

Aeltje's tombstone was carved by John Zuricher.

He may be the William Campbell of Orange Co., NY, for whom bond was posted 12 June 1760 by Hendrick Kipp, of Bergen Co, as Adm'r; Reynier van Giesen fellowbondsman.

While still in his teens, William Campbell came to America in the spring of 1735 accompanied by two sisters (Catherine and Nensje/Nancy; Nancy m. Uldrick Brouwer) and a brother (James), and settled in Bergen County.

In the m. record, they are "Willem Kempbeel, y.m., born in Ireland, living at Schraalenburgh, and Elizabeth De Marest, y.d., born and living at Scralenburgh."

William Campbell kept a tavern on the north side of the road leading from Old Bridge to Schraalenburgh Church (now Henley Avenue, New Milford).¹

The location of his home and tavern was the northeast corner of the intersection of what are today Henley Avenue and River Road.
