

-- DEBAUN --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolution of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

John G. DeBaun owned a general store in Saddle River, Bergen Co., NJ on the corner of East Allendale Road and West Saddle River Road, today (1995) the site of the Saddle River Market. The building had been occupied as early as 1861 by a J. D. Nagle. The grocery business that had been John D. Berdan's had moved to this site in 1880 when A. Z. Winter had purchased the stock from it.

In the early 1890s the business was purchased by John G. DeBaun and run at the building, still owned by John D. Berdan. The building burned in 1900 on Easter morning and was rebuilt; it burned again in 1910 and was rebuilt in 1911 by Albert Mowerson (who had worked for DeBaun, but left him in 1906 to begin a travelling meat market business; and later built a butcher shop in his front yard at 59 East Allendale Road). Mowerson moved his market building from his home and located it to the rear of the property of his new business. Mowerson's store was later owned by his son-in-law, Abram Forshay, who sold it in the 1940s.

John G. DeBaun, discouraged by the fires at his market, had gone to work in New York City. He disliked working in the city, so in 1911 he built a grocery store next to Albert Mowerson's and remained there from 1911 until 1933.

John G. DeBaun, 43, and Aletta O. D., his wife, 40, were listed in the 1910 Federal Census, living on Allendale Avenue in the Borough of Saddle River, Bergen County, NJ. Listed with them was daughter, Martha R., 14.
