

-- DYCKMAN --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolution of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

In his will he wrote: September 6, 1711. I, Cornelius Dykman, of New York, being sick. My executors are to pay all debts and funeral charges. I leave to my eldest son, Johanes Dykman, £3 for his Birthright. To my son George I leave 1/2 of my land and Plantation, to be divided by a right line from Hudsons River to the eastermost of my bounds. And he is to take the first choice of the land when divided, and he is to pay to the rest of my children £200 after my wife's decease. I leave to my son Cornelius, the other half of my said land, and he is to pay to my children £20 each. My wife Janittie is to remain in full possession of all my estate during her life. If my wife and my son George agree to a division of the land, he is to have possession of his part, and he is to pay to my wife £200. I make Edward Blagge, Johanes Jansen, and David Mandeville, ex-

In their marriage record, they were: Dirk Dijkman, young man from Albany, and Willemyna Bas, young woman from New Town.

In his will, he wrote: ...I, Dirck Dyckman, of Bloomingdale, in the Out Ward of New York, being sick. I leave to my son Cornelius all my wearing apparell, "and one of my best horses and my Trooper's furniture," in full bar to his claim as eldest son and as a bar forever to the same. I leave to my wife Willemantie the use of all the rest of my estate during her natural life, if she shall so long remain my widow. But if she marries she shall have 1/3 of the movables. All the rest I leave to my children, Cornelius, Hannah, Cornelia, Joanes, Dirck, Aaron, George, "and all such other children as in the future I may gett by her, my said wife." My executors are to sell the real estate. "If my son Cornelius shall be so minded to purchase for himself the real estate, and will give as much as any other person, he may have it, and six years' time to pay for it." I make my wife and my sons Cornelius and Johanes executors. Dated February 16, 1729, in the 3d year of King George II. Witnesses, Andries Ten Eyck, T. V. Solingen, J. S. Demarest. Proved, October 12, 1762, upon the oath of Abraham Ten Eyck that Andries Ten Eyck was his brother, and that the said Andries Ten Eyck hath been dead upwards of 20 years. Apparently Frederick spent time in Rye, NY and, when he was 15, his father bought land in Norwalk, CT. In 1737 he was living in Fairfield and in 1744 was in Redding (which was a part of Fairfield). Mrs. Chamberlain has found good evidence that, in addition to Mary, Ann and Levi, he had at least two other children: Joseph and Thaddeus. She speculates that "Ann" was his second wife, since both Joseph and Thaddeus were born in the 1730s. She also speculates that Ann's surname was Sturges, daughter of Thaddeus Sturges of Fairfield.

Dykeman, Nicholas

Nicholas Dyckman son of Cornelius Dyckman & Jannetje Dircks b. before 1705 (1692 Bergen, NJ?) d. 1758 Bloomingdale, Out Ward of NY	m. 15 Nov 1716 NYC Ref Ch (banns 19 Oct 1716 NYC Ref Ch)	Anneke Sevenhoven dau. of John Sevenhoven & b. d.

In the NYC Ref Ch record of their banns and marriage, they were: Nicolaus Dykman, j.m. V. Bergen, met Anneke Zevenhooven, j.d. V. Boswyk.

In his will, he wrote: I, Nicholas Dyckman, of Bloomingdale, in the Out ward of New York, yeoman, being sick. My executors have full power to sell all real estate, and they are to sell with all convenient speed all my stock of cattle and horses. After the payment of debts and expenses, I leave to my wife Anake the yearly sum of £40 during her life. I leave 1/2 of all the rest to my daughters, Rachel, wife of John Harsen, Janettie, wife of Gerritt Cosine, Maritie, wife of Peter Vandergiesen, Anake, Cornelia, and Wyntie. I leave to my son John the interest on 1/7 during his life, and then to his children. I make my sons in law, John Harsen and Gerritt Cosine, and my friend, Jacob Le Roy, executors. "In witness I have set my mark, having never been able to write my name." May 29, 1758. Witnesses, John Morin Scott, John Hopper, Gerritt Henlon. Proved, September 20, 1758.

Dyckman's homestead at Bloomingdale embraced 94 acres, which ran up to 73rd street at 7th Avenue, and a little higher on the river. Pursuant to his will, dated May 29, 1752, it was sold March 1, 1763 by his executors, John Harsen and Garret Cozine, to Jacob Harsen, who, two days later, reconveyed the northern half to said John Harsen (nephew of Dyckman, and also married to his daughter Rachel), and the southern half to said Cozine, whose wife was Jannetje Dyckman. The southern half, with east portion of the northern, formed the well-known Harsen estate.¹
