

-- IDERSTEIN --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

Iderstein

Also written Iderstine, Van Iderstine, Yderstein, Ydelstein. All variations are filed here.

Michael Tades was the progenitor of the van Yderstein/Iderstein family, although the Van Iderstein surname does not appear until the third generation.

Johannes/John Van Iderstine was a British supporter and was a soldier in New York. They moved to Prince Edward Island.¹

John VanIderstine (Johannes VanYderstyn), "The Loyalist," joined the 4th Battalion New Jersey Volunteers in 1777 as a Sgt/Carpenter. At the end of the Revolution, John removed to Shelburne, Nova Scotia, where he received a land allotment. (The part of Shelburne which included his grant was never developed and is now a part of the town dump.) It is believed he left the Shelburne area and arrived on Prince Edward Island about 1784-1786 and settled at Vernon River.²

Michael Tades, who came to this country before 1644, was the progenitor of the van Yderstein/Iderstein family, although that surname does not appear until the third generation.

Michael Tades was from Eiderstedt, the peninsular district of western Schleswig-Holstein, NW Germany, just southwest of Husum. It is bounded by the North Sea (to the north and west) and by the Eider River and its estuary to the south. Its main town is Toenning [umlaut over the "o" in the real spelling]. This peninsular district consisted originally of three islands, but they have been connected to the mainland since 1489. According to the same source, Schleswig -- the southern part of the Jutland Peninsula north of the Eider River -- was a Danish duchy from the 11th century until annexed in 1864-66 by Prussia. It was then annexed to the German region called Holstein (south of the Eider River) and was constituted into the Prussian province of Schleswig-Holstein. In Danish the duchy was called Slesvig. So in 1620 Eiderstedt was that part of the Jutland peninsula just north of the Eider River, and it belonged to Denmark.²

Michiel Tades was a tavern keeper, operating at several locations in New Amsterdam. In 1652 he operated a tavern at 11 Pearl Street in New Amsterdam. By about 1657 he was operating a yacht, making trips to the Delaware.¹ While operating the yacht, he was charged with running liquor to the Indians.³

In 1662, in an altercation in his tavern, Tryntje Martens, wife of Paulus Pietersen [Paulus], bit the finger of Michiel Tades's [Iderstein] wife.⁴

He swore allegiance to the English in October 1664.¹

In the NYC Ref Ch record of his (2) marriage banns, they were: Michiel Tades, Wedr. Van Annetje Eduwarts, en Tryntje Jacobs, Wede. Van Jacob Stoffels).
