

-- LAYTON --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

Richard Layton

m. (1)

d. about 1672-73

m. (2) 1668

Jean

(widow of Thomas Ireland)

He was an Englishman in the colony as early as 1655. He was in New Amsterdam in that year (spelled Layton, Lattin and Lattyn) and by 1666 was in Long Island.¹

Richard Latten came to Boston from England in 1638-9, bringing his wife and children and first settled at Concord, Mass. In 1641 he removed to Fairfield, Conn. In 1647 his name appears in the records of the General Court. In 1658 he was a resident of Hempstead, Long Island, where he probably came into contact with the Birdsalls, who had early settled there. He was at Oyster Bay in 1661 and removed to Huntington the same year. In 1672 he was accused of "speaking too freely and probably disloyally, against the Duke of York and his representative, Governor Lovelace, and a proclamation and warrant of arrest were issued against him. He was pursued for a while but his offense was extenuated because of his advanced age. He died about 1672-3.²

He bought 8 acres from Charles Taintor, by 1653. Thomas Beardsley of Fairfield acknowledged a debt to him in 1652; and in 1654 he brought action for debt against Thomas Dunn and Roger Knapp.

Christian Lattin in 1661 sued "Henderickson" for slander; case referred by the Court at Hartford to that at Fairfield.

Richard Lattin went over about 1654 to Hempstead, L. I., to Oyster Bay in 1660, and to Huntington in 1661. About 1664 he returned to Oyster Bay, where he bought a large tract from the Indians. His first wife appears to have remained at Fairfield and d. there. In 1668 he m. Jean, widow of Thomas Ireland of Hempstead, whither he removed again, and d. 1672/3.

Layton, William

William Layton

William Layton, an Englishman, with his name spelled six different ways (Laighton, Laiton, Latone, Lattone, Lawton, Layten), was one of the pioneer settlers of Middletown, New Jersey.

1688, Mch. 25. He had a patent for land granted to him which was surveyed June 9, 1688. Jan. 4, 1688, he recorded his cattle-mark. Apr. 30, 1703, John Stout , in a conveyance of land to his son Richard Stout , lying in Middletown , mentioned the lands of Richard Mount and William Layton as abutting properties.

1702, Aug. 17-18, he made his will as William Lawton ; proved June 28, 1708, in which he named his wife executrix, and she was probably the Violet Lawton to whom letters of administration were issued, and his six children.

19 June 1708, Middletown, NJ, Inventory of the personal estate of William Laiton/Layton (£62.19.0); made by Elisha Lawrence and Richard Stout.
