

-- MARTLINGS --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

He lived on Beaver Hill, near the Sawmill River Valley, Westchester Co., NY.<sup>1</sup>

He was for a time a member of one of the militia regiments, and later, served in the Continental Line. In Nov. 1777 he, with several other men of the Sawmill River neighborhood, desiring to avenge the destruction of the Van Tassel homes, burned by the British a few nights previously, went to the cove at Wolfert's Roost, where the Water Guard kept their boats, where others joined them, manned one or more of the boats and proceeded swiftly and silently down the Hudson to Spuyten Duyvil Creek, where they succeeded in passing the British Guard boats without being observed, and then went to the landing place near the foot of the present 92nd Street in New York City. Here they landed and climbed the cliffs, and went on to the residence of Gen. Oliver Delancey, on old Bloomingdale Road. The home was feebly defended, and the party obtained possession without trouble. Taking such articles as they could readily carry, they set the house on fire and hurried back to their boats....On their return trip, Abraham Martling carried on his back a massive pair of brass andirons, as a souvenir of the night's events.<sup>1</sup>

In 1779, Abraham Martling enlisted in Capt. Schaffer's company of Col. Armand's regiment of the New York Line, and served throughout the way, being at the battle of Yorktown when Lord Cornwallis surrendered.<sup>1</sup>

Late in his life, on 17 April 1818, he applied for a military pension, and in his application he testified that he was aged 55; that he had enlisted sometime in Oct 1779 in Capt. Schaffer's Co. of Col. Armand's regiment of horse and foot, New York Line, and so continued in service until May 1783 when he was discharged at Charleston, SC. He said that he was now extremely poor; that his debts amounted to £5; his cash in hand was 50¢; that his real estate consisted of a few acres of mossy rock; that his dwelling was a hole in the ground with a roof over it, etc. He got his pension.<sup>1</sup>
