

-- VAN DER KOECK --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

In the NYC Ref Ch record of their marriage banns, they were: Michiel Van der Koeck, j.m. Uyte Zeelt, en Saertje Joosten, j.d. Van Breuckelen, de Eerste woonende alhier, en tweede op Betfort. Met Verhoog na Breuckelen.

Michael Van der Koeck and Saertje Joosten his wife were married in 1699 and came from New York to the Passaic River Valley in East Jersey with other Dutch settlers in the early 1700's. They settled in the area called Gansegat by the Dutch and Horseneck by the English, now called Fairfield, Essex Co, NJ. They had property on the Pequannock River, near that of Joris Ryerson, step brother of Saertje Joosten. The early Van der Cooks are said to be buried in the Elias Smith Graveyard located in 1895 on the farm of Cornelius Dey. The Smith graveyard adjoined the Vanderhoof burial ground and contained about 25 small stones without marks. In 1988 the burial site was bounded by Hwy 46, Sand Road, Hollywood Av and Two Bridges Rd, in Fairfield. That is probably where Michael and Saertje were buried. Michael and Saertje's sons Hendrik Van der Koeck/Cook and Frans Van der Koeck/Cook became known as Henry Cook and Francis Cook when the English settlers from the Newark area moved north and west into the area called Gansegat by the Dutch and Horseneck by the English, now called Fairfield, NJ.
