

-- VREELAND --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

They moved to a large farm he had bought in the English Neighborhood, a part of the Berry patent of 1669. He undoubtedly built the first two houses on his tract in what is today Leonia -- a temporary structure and later his permanent stone home. In 1777 he was imprisoned at Morristown for British sympathies.

On 27 February 1771, John W. Day, of North River, Bergen County, conveyed to Jacob Vreeland, of the same place, for £140, patent of Samuel Edsall; mentioned line of William W. Day. Signed John W. Day. Witnessed by David Day, John Day, and Peter Zabriskie.¹

On 21 May 1771, Jacob Vreeland of North River, Bergen County, conveyed to Derick Vreeland of english neighborhood, for £300, 50 acres. Signed Jacob Vreeland (his mark). Witnessed by Naomi Day. John Day and Peter Zabriskie.¹

In 1821, Derck Vreeland gave his son, Michael, a large parcel of land, consisting of 150 acres, which extended from Overpeck Creek to the Hudson River. When Michael died in 1832, he stipulated in his will that the land should pass undivided to his son, Richard M. Vreeland, but that on Richard's death it should be divided equally between Richard's sons, Michael and Isaac. This division was not effectuated until 1871 when Richard M. Vreeland died.³

In the (1) marriage record they were: "Johannes Machielse Vreeland, Y.M., from New York, and Claesje Dirckse Braeck, Y.D. from Manhattan Island."

John Vreeland was a ship carpenter in New York in 1698.

The following transactions probably concern Johannes's son(s) (and poss. grandson):

On 1 July 1771, Johannis Vreeland of Chamumapow, conveyed to Michael Vreeland of Stoney Point, Bergen County, a land trade, formerly belonging to Derick Claesen, deceased. Also lot deeded 26 June 1701 Michael Vreeland to Johannis Vreeland. Signed Johannis Vreeland. Witnessed by David Day, John Day and Reynier Van Giesen.¹

On 1 July 1771, Michael Vreeland of Stoney Point, Bergen County, conveyed to Johannis Vreeland, of Chamumapow, Bergen County, a land trade. Signed Michael Vreeland (his mark). Witnessed by David Day, John Day, Reynier Van Giesen.¹

On 2 July 1771, Johannis Vreeland of Chamumapow, conveyed to John Vreeland of Stoney Point, Bergen County, for £30, 5 acres bounded by Claes Vreeland, George Vreeland, John Van Horne and App Post. Signed by Johannis Vreeland. Witnessed by David Day, John Day, and Reynier Van Giesen.¹

On the island of South Beveland, in the province of Zeeland, lies a small village, 's Heer Abtskerke, colloquially called Scrabbekercke. In 1640 we first hear of our ancestor and he is called Michiel Janez van (from) Scrabbekercke. Thus it's highly probable that Michiel lived (or was even born) at Scrabbekercke. Another name for Michiel, other than Jansen or Janez, was in the New Amsterdam Church records where he is referred to as Michiel Jansen van den Berg, referring to the hill farm at Rensselaerswyck, where he had first settled and which he left in 1646 when he went to New Amsterdam.¹

Michael Jansen came from Broeckhuysen (North Brabant), leaving Holland 1 Oct 1636 in the ship Rensselaerwyck with his wife and two children. Vreeland says he came from Scrabberkerk, Island of South Beveland, Province of Zeeland, Netherland by way of Amsterdam, in the ship Het Wafen van Norwegen (Arms of Norway), arriving in Manhattan 4 Aug 1638. He settled at what is now Greenbush, opposite Albany as a boereknecht, or farm servant. He later entered the fur trade, "made his fortune," and came to Manhattan by November 1644. In 1646 he settled in Communipaw on the bouwerie owned by Jan Evertsen Bout.

In the Het Wapen van Noorwegen freight bill which lists Michiel, his wife, and two farm servants, every child in the party of colonists which the vessel brought is carefully noted... had Michiel and Fytje brought a child with them, it is very certain its board during the passage would have been charged and mention made of it. It is certain now that the couple had no child at the time of their coming.⁴

Michiel brought two farm laborers with him and they joined a small group in the Rensselaerswyck Colony. There, Michiel was head farmer for the Patroon from 1640 to 1646. He was then known as Michiel Jansen. In 1647 he was referred to (baptism record) as Michiel Janszen Van den Berg. However, in the same year, Director General Stuyvesant and his Council selected nine men to give their advice and to assist in promoting the welfare of the colony and Michiel was one of the farmers chosen. He was listed as Michiel Jansen Vreeland.¹

It was recorded that he started raising horses in 1648. There was also a report about Michiel's sale of contraband munitions to the Indians and a fine for selling beaver skins without paying duty. Actually he made his fortune in the trapping trade. He moved to NJ in 1654 and on Sept. 15, 1655, the Indians raided. Of all the settlers' families, Vreeland was the only one to escape entirely unharmed, with his wife and six children. He lost his house and all his possessions.¹

Michiel went back to Manhattan and opened an inn tap room on the north side of Pearl street, just south of Broad street on Oct 23, 1656. He prospered and bought other land in New Amsterdam.¹

All the settlers who had been forced to leave their homes in Pavonia (Bayonne-Jersey City) because of the Indian War wanted to return. Michiel soon wearied of living in Manhattan. In late January 1658, he too returned to his farmland and started raising cattle on a large scale. Soon he was quite wealthy.¹

Michiel Jansen (Vreeland) was named as one of the first magistrates of the first court of justice erected within the limits of the present State of New Jersey, and of the earliest organized municipal governments within that state.¹

Claes Jansen de Backer married Annetje, the sister of Fytje Hartmans. Annetje and Claes/Nicolaes Backer witnessed the baptisms of several Vreeland and Wessels children.

There is no record or information which shows that he (Cornelis) married a second time. The statement by Winfield and by others copied that he married Lysbet Jacobs, a widow, is an error. The New York Church record of marriages has the following entry: Cornelis Michielszen, Wedr Van Niesje Ysenbrants, en Lysbeth Jacobs, Wede van Wilbrant Abrahamszen beyde wonende alhier. 1692, den 17 Apr. Those who earlier examined the records seem never to have realized that the name Michielszen did not always denote a member of (the Vreeland) family. Cornelis Michielszen Vreeland was never the widower of Niesje Ysenbrants. March 13, 1707 he and his wife, Metje Direck Braack, were sponsors at the baptism of Feytje, the daughter of his brother Enoch and his wife, Aagtje Van Hoorn. (Bergen Church Records.)⁴

Michiel died in 1663 before the month of June and so before New Netherlands was taken by the English. Fytje Hartmans, widow, continued to manage the considerable land holdings that Michiel left to her. She sold and traded and was said to have been an excellent 'business woman' for those times. She died in 1697 and in her will left all her lands to her seven children, Elias, Enoch, Johannes, Hartman, Cornelis, Jannetje and Pryntje. The land was partitioned 26 Jun 1701.^{1,5}

In the NYC Ref Ch record of their marriage, they were: Michiel Cornelisse Vreeland, j.m., met Jenneke Helmigse V. Houwten, j.d., beide van Bergen.

They lived on the Wesel Road (now part of Paterson, NJ).

In his will dated 22 June 1776, probated 3 April 1777, "Michael C. Vreeland, of Stony Point, Bergen County, New Jersey" mentions wife Yanake; sons John; Halinagh [Helmagh?] (that farm or plantation where he now lives, on the north side of Staten Island); son Cornelius (farm or plantation at Hackinsack Point, in Bergen County); son Jacob (farm or plantation where he lives adjoining to the North River, in Bergen County); son Derrick (farm or plantation where he now lives); son Michael (farm or plantation where he lives, lying at Pennsepowgh, in Bergen County); son John (farm or plantation where I now live); heirs of daughter Jannetye; daughter Achsey; two daughters of my daughter Matys, namely Phametrie and Jannetye (but if their brother Michael Vanpile should put my son Halingh to any cost about his farm, then the sum left to his two sisters is to be kept); Cornelia, wife of son Johannes. Made sons executors. Witnesses were Ecbert Post, John Freeland, Robert Morris.

On 18 October 1805 (recorded 19 October 1805, Bergen Co. W:11) Jannety Terhune, widow of Roelif Terhune late of the Township of New Barbadoes, deceased, conveyed to Michael Terhune and Michael Vreeland, both of the County of Bergen, for a yearly annual sum of $50 to be paid to said Jannety Terhune during her life, a parcel which belonged to said husband at his decease. Signed by Jannetie Terhune (her mark).¹

In 1821, Derck Vreeland gave his son, Michael, a large parcel of land, consisting of 150 acres, which extended from Overpeck Creek to the Hudson River. When Michael died in 1832, he stipulated in his will that the land should pass undivided to his son, Richard M. Vreeland, but that on Richard's death it should be divided equally between Richard's sons, Michael and Isaac. This division was not effectuated until 1871 when Richard M. Vreeland died. Mary Vreeland, the widow of Michael, owned the property in 1840. The building which is indicated on the 1840 map at the southern boundary of the Vreeland property is thought to have been the school house, and is also indicated as such on the 1865 Chapman map. A creek known as Mill Creek was located on the northern boundary of the Vreeland property, and a mill was located on the creek. Although Crystal Lake was not referred to in the Vreeland deed, it was shown on the 1837 Hassler map and the 1865 Chapman map, and apparently also constituted part of the northern boundary of that property. The Vreeland House, located at 125 Lakeview Avenue, is indicated as a solid marking on the 1840 map, and is extant today. The stone portion of the house is thought to have been built around 1786, the frame portion between 1810 and 1820. The house represents one of the most outstanding examples of Dutch Colonial homesteads built in northern New Jersey.²
