

-- VROOM --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

Arendt Corsse or Corssen (Sometimes called "Arendt Stam") and his brother Dirck Corsse or Corssen (Sometimes called "Dirck Stam") were both in the employ of the Dutch West India Company as early as 1630-1633 (as was another supposed younger brother, Kors Pieterszen Corssen progenitor of the Staten Island Corsons).

Cors Pieterse, also known as Cornelius Pietersen Vroom, (born ca.1612, probably son of Peter de Course), stated in affidavits in 1638 and 1639 that he was then aged 26 years and from "Langeraer" (about 6 miles from Leiden, Holland).

Cors Pieterszen was a seaman, skipper of a small vessel carrying freight between Manhattan and Rensselaerwyck and oc-asionally acting as pilot in New Amsterdam harbor. He was proficient in the Indian language and trading with the Indians was one of his principal occupations. In 1647 he lived on the north side of Pearl St. near the tip of the island where he received a patent -- but may have lived there before the patent.

Cors Pieterszen sued Adam Roelantsen [Groen], as guardian for his wife's estate on 10 Jun 1638 to recover her share of her father's estate, her mother having died (Cors Pieterszen's wife was Tryntje Hendricks, dau. of Elsie Martense by her first husband, Hendrick Tomassen). The share turned out to be fifty carolus guilders which he received on 27 Jan 1639. "...appeared Adam Roelantsen and Cors Pietersen from Langeraer..." "First, Adam Roelantsen shall pay to the aforesaid Cors Pietersen, as husband and guardian of his wife Tryntje Hendricks, the sum of fifty Carolus guilders, reckoned at 20 stivers the guilders, on account of the purchase by said Adam Roelantsen from said Cors Pietersen, in the capacity aforesaid, of his wife's interest in the paternal estate of her deceased father Hendric Tomassen and her mother Elsie Martens, whereby I, Cors Pietersen, acknowledge that I am fully paid and satisfied..." "Furthermore, I, Cors Pietersen, promise not to revive any old disputes which heretofore have existed between Adam Roelantsen and me..." "Thus done and covenanted in Fort Amsterdam, this 27th of January 1638 [sic -- 1639?]" "This is the X mark of Cors Pietersen, aforesaid"²
