

-- WEIANT, WEYANT --

The family groups represented in this collection may not be complete, because information was entered bit by bit as I found it or happened upon it; I have not done any systematic research on these families. Because they do not compose whole family genealogies, these listings are arranged differently from most genealogical records or histories. Each listing is a family group, and is arranged and filed alphabetically under the name of the head of the family.

Names are generally in alphabetical order (disregarding spelling variations and middle names), then in approx. chronological order. The first sorting is by surname (mixing together any and all spelling variations), then by given name, then by approximate birthdate (when known) in approximate chronological order. For easier reference, surnames in headings are grouped together under the most common spelling usage that evolved in this geographical location, regardless of individualistic spellings in the records themselves. Cross references are used in most cases where surname spellings substantially vary.

Within the quoted records, the individual spellings have been (mostly) retained because they sometimes provide clues (although in general—but with exceptions—they seem to largely reflect the record keeper's particular orthography and not always, at this early period, any special family preference). Those interested can see the variety and evolvement of a particular name's spelling and the interesting and sometimes amusing attempts at phonetic reproduction. Keep in mind that before names and spellings were standardized, records reflected the individualistic whim of the particular recorder (often two different spellings of the same name within the same document). In addition, all records were handwritten, and sometimes deciphering a handwritten name in early records can be quite challenging! So expect to search under all possibilities of spelling (for both surnames and given names).

Given names are grouped together without regard for middle initials or middle names. Because middle names and/or initials are sometimes used, sometimes not used in various records, it seemed simplest to arrange entries as if the middle names or initials did not exist. Usually all variations of a given name are grouped together as though spelled one way: Jan, Johannes, John, etc. are all grouped as one (but also look under the other forms).

Sources and references are included with each "family" grouping, but may or may not include sources that are cited (or are obvious, such as baptismal records, etc.) within the narrative or listing itself.

As with any compiled genealogical record, researchers should regard this information as leads and clues, and should verify all data with independent research.

I welcome, and would be grateful for, any additions or corrections, especially with source citations.

Weiant

The various spellings, Weiant, Weyant, Wiant, Wygant, Weygantm Wygand, Weygandt, Weigandt, are all of them merely different forms of the one surname, borne by the common ancestor of the family, the Rev. George Herman Weygandt, who was for many years the Lutheran minister at Neider Saulheim, Hessen, Germany. He is supposed to have been a lineal descendant of Bishop John Wigand, who was born at Mansfield, Upper Saxony, in 1523, and died at Königsburg, in 1578, having been a graduate of Wittenburg, master of St. Lawrence school, Nuremburg, the first professor of divinity in the University of Jena, later professor of divinity at Königsburg and a columnous and powerful controversial writer on the Protestant side. The Rev. George Herman Weygandt had among other children: Michael; Herman, died in 1684, married Ann ---, ancestors of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey branches. ---Reynolds, Cuyler, Genealogical and Family History of Southern New York and the Hudson River Valley, New York: 1914, Vol. II, p. 889

George Weiant was born in the Town of Monroe, Orange County in the year 1773. Quite early in life he became a permanent resident of Rockland County. He married Catherine Waldron daughter of Jacob Waldron and Catherine Lamb in 1796. Either just before or shortly after his marriage he opened a general country store not far from the present town of Haverstraw which he conducted with success for many years becoming in the meantime interested in real estate. It is said he was educated for the legal profession. At the time of his death in 1855 he was one of the principal land owners of Rockland County.¹

According to a marker on his gravesite, George Weiant served in the War of 1812.

Michael Weigand emigrated to America with other Palatine families in the company of the Rev. Joshua Kochwethal, who had been his pastor since his youth. The record of his emigration, dated December 8, 1708, reads: "Michael Weigand, gus-bandman, aged 52; Anna Catharina Weigandin, his wife, aged 54; Anna Maria Weigandin, child, aged 13; Tobias Weigand, child, aged 7; George Weigand, child, aged 5." The homestead on which he settled, in what is now Newburgh, Orange county, New York, and the second house he built for himself, became later the famous "Hasbrouck House" and "Washington Headquarters."¹

Michael Weygandt and his wife, Anna Catherine, were Palatine settlers in Newburgh, NY.

They moved to PA with the family of their daughter Anna Maria after 24 Aug 1724; they were still living 1 Jan 1731 when Michael Weigandt and wife were baptismal sponsors for a child of John Adam Philbel at Oley, PA. Sons Tobias and George remained near Newburgh.
